HOLLAND WONDERS WHETHER KAISER WILL SURRENDER.

Government Said to Believe Its Decision in the Case Is Final.

THE HAGUE, Jan 24 (Associated ress) -While there may be a future xchauge of notes with reference to the Allied demand for surrender of he former German Emperor, the Govcoment of the Netherlands is deared inclined to the belief that its exision will be considered as final.

The Datch Government has no nowledge of any attempt made by he Allies to get the exile to surender lumself. As far as they know e expects to stay at Amerongen and loorn, and the former Crown Prince There is some conjecture on whether in case of further demands ing to save Holland further trouble by surrendering voluntarily. The Dutch press does not mittelpase any helligerent action by the Allied powers and the Government is be-lieved to share this view, on the rheory advanced in comment here that the demand for the former menarch's extradition was made merely to satisfy some political clames in the Allied states and was clamor in the Allied states and was not intended to be pressed by the distance who signed it.
